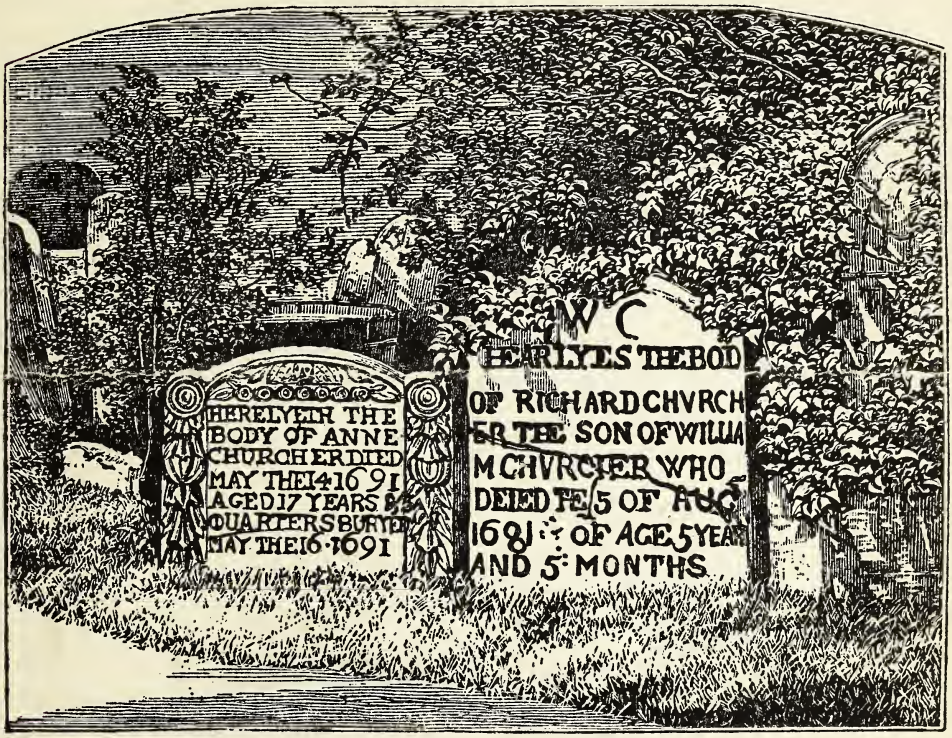
TOMBS IN OLD TRINITY.



Early Churcher Burials

The tombstones in the churchyard of Old Trinity at Wall Street and Broadway, New York City, are mostly obliterated. This illustration was made over fifty years ago, thus preserving the inscription long since destroyed by time and weather. Members of the Churcher or Churchier families will find something of interest here.

Sevier

[Contributed to Genealogy.]

General John Sevier was married first in 1761-2 to Sarah Hawkins, the daughter of Governor Hawkins. By her he had ten children. One was Valentine, born 1775 and married 1795. To whom? One tradition is that she was Miss Arnott, but want full proofs on this, with any dates procurable on them and their son John Sevier, born 1796; died June, 1863. He married first————————? Second April 12, 1840 Mary Meyers, died March 10, 1876.

General Sevier was the hero of thirty battles during the Revolutionary War, and his brother, Captain Valentine Sevier served under him at battle of King's Mountain. By his second wife. Catherine Sherrill he had eight children. I have list of several of these, but not the date of birth of any. Can give names of some whom they marred, but not all, so shall be glad to have full data on foregoing. He was born September 23, 1745; died September 24, 1815. A. R. H.

Paul-Richardson-Richmond

[Contributed to Genealogy.]

The author of a recent English publication upon American families says that William Paul of Taunton, who died 1704 and was born 1624 in Scotland, married Mary Richardson, daughter of John. This is incorrect, since the will of Col. John Richmond of Taunton reveals the fact that Mrs. Paul was his daughter. Was this William Paul a son of another William Paul of Taunton, 1638, who returned to York county, England? Did he marry a Mary Richardson, daughter of John Richardson of Scotland?

W. W.

Reynolds-Dickinson

[Contributed to Genealogy.]

At North Kingstown, R. I., in February, 1758, there were married Elisha Reynolds, son of John and Hannah——? Reynolds and Mary Dickinson, daughter of John and Mary Dickinson. They had son Elisha, born August, 1763, who served in the Revolutionary War, but name of his first wife has never been learned. A descendant said she had heard it was "Miss Gates", but the proofs on this have never been found. Elisha was living at Alburgh, Vermont, in 1790, and was married before then. His son Thomas, born about 1795 married Elsie Bell, the daughter of William and Lizzie (Deuell) Bell. They had a large family, and one son named Michael would indicate that Lizzie was daughter of Michael Duell, who lived at Alburgh in 1790. Another son was called Sewell or Soule Bell, and we believe that there is relationship to the Mayflower Soule's, for we have heard that an old Bible in Vermont has the line back to the Mayflower. Any aid on above will be appreciated.

Willard Family

[Contributed to Genealogy.]

The History of Harvard, Mass., page 574, is in error as to the family of Thomas Willard, showing children by his second wife by whom he had none. Her name was given as Sarah Fletcher. It should read: Sarah (Brewer) Fletcher, widow, and they were married February 25, 1786. Her first husband, Timothy Fletcher, died in May, 1779, and the first wife of Thomas Willard, Sarah Gibson, died May 22, 1779. Harvard records and Bailey's Early "Massachusetts Marriages" both show that Thomas Willard, Jr., and Sarah Farwell were married May 3, 1768. They were undoubtedly the parents of the five children credited to his father, as having been born between 1768 and 1778. See U. S. Census 1790, page 222.

PAST AND PRESENT

GENEALOGY begets ancestral gossip, and I purpose in this column to chatter aimlessly but nevertheless agreeably and instructively, upon things, persons, places and what-not genealogically. It is a short journey, after all is said and done, from Plymouth Rock to Somerset Street, and from the martyrs of yesterday to the ancestral chart makers of today.

Only a few hours ago I found the marriage record of America's first "grafter" and money grubber, the renowned Captain William Kidd, he of buried gold renown. Captain Kidd was married in New York City, 16 May, 1691, to Sarah Oort. That is the way she spelled her name.

In our nomenclature we frequently find a Beet, an Onion, a Root or a Corn. Once in a life time we strike at the head of a Cabbage. In my own line there comes to the surface a Turnipseed. But a moment ago I was called upon to record the marriage of Rhoda Bagger, and what is worse she was united to a Cook.

"Don't shoot this old gray head," she said. Who said? Why Barbara Frietchie. In Frederick County, Maryland, on February 2, 1793, William Carey was wedlocked to the said Barbara Frietchie. Whether she was the only, original Barbara it matters little.

After I had driven fourteen miles over the mountain trails, last summer, to a Virginia County seat, I met the white-haired county clerk. "Good Lord, man," he said, "I've been yere in this office forty-two years, and yer the second pursohn that's been yere in all that time to look at them records."

What things there are, my dears, in the wills men make. One Thomas Brigham, of England, 1542, bequeathed to his son Ralph, "my chamlett gowne, my long night gowne, both my chamlett jackets and a paire of virginals."

Mistress Katherine Roundell in her will dated 1522, wrote in a humorous vein. "I give to my son Thomas, half a mare, half a saddle and half a cart wheel." Which would be slow going for Thomas.

Who is the most famous Englishman of history? Not the Kings, nor the Sir Sydneys, nor the Chaucers, but good old yellow-journal, news-maker Guy Fawkes. His name comes readily and he lives on after all others are forgotten.

In his will dated December 6, 1773, Rev. Noah Hobart of Fairfield, Conn., made this provision: "Second, I give to my loving wife all she brought with her, also ye use of my house as long as she has a mind to stay there."

Ayres-Osborn

[Contributed to GENEALOGY.]

Recently I purchased a copy of the old Ayres' work, on the descendants of Captain John Ayres of Brookfield, Mass. In it was some of the data sought, but much lacking. He had a son Samuel, who married Abigail Fellows, and they had a son Samuel, who married Martha Bell January 21, 1742, and had ten children—as we found this the popular number for his father and his descendants, for Asa Ayres, his son, born June 5, 1761, married Mary Wait and had ten children also. One son bore the odd name Buenos Ayres—the youngest, who was but ten when his father moved to Ohio and bought land in Geauga co.; Buenos married September 1, 1833, Sarah Osborn, daughter of Ransom and Sarah (Hurd) Osborn, who was born at Oxford, New Haven co., Conn., September 2, 1816. She was of English descent, her ancestors having resided in New England many generations—so says an old letter. Can any one give the Osborn and Hurd lines down to Sarah? Or the Bell and Wait lines? Did Asa Ayres serve in the Revolutionary War from Massachusettes? He seems to have lived at Chester, Hamden county, Mass., until after 1810. His father lived at Granby, was drowned November 15, 1768, aged 52. His wife died October 25, 1765, aged 41. Do not know when Asa and his wife died nor age at death. Shall be glad to give more data to ones interested in these lines. A. R. H.

Payne-Leach-Brewster

[Contributed to Genealogy]

As yet, proofs are lacking on the parents of Stephen Payne, who had son Ebenezer Leach Payne, who served in the Revolutionary War, taking his father's place when only sixteen. Recently from old records we procured description of this Ebenezer L. Payne, dated Northampton, September 14, 1780, of men detached from Col. Israel Chapin's 2nd Hampshire Co. for the term of three months. "Age 17 years: stature 5 feet and 3 inches. Complexion light", etc. His father, Stephen Payne mustered between January 20, 1777 and June 1, 1778 by Trumen Wheler, Master Muster for Berkshire co., Capt. Watkins' Company: term three years or during the war. Reported received state bounty. Where can one get data on those who received state bounty?

Another Stephen Payne lived at Lebanon, Conn., at or near same time; this Stephen was married there, September 23, 1756, to Rebecca Bushnell, and one of these served in the French and Indian wars with Capt. Ebenezer Leach, which might account for the name of his son. Or it may prove that this Stephen was son of Stephen and Sarah Leach, who were married at Pomfret, Conn., 1727, and had there two children, Judith and Noah. I found lately in the Comstock Genealogy, page 275: "Abel (5) Comstock (Daniel 4) born 1721, died 1814, Cooperstown, N. Y. He married September 17, 1747, Judith Pain, at Kent, Conn. She was born 1728, and died December 19, 1803, at Litchfield, Conn. In August, 1776, Abel Comstock was a private in Captain Carter's Co." So from this we find that Stephen, whose wife was Sarah Leach moved to Kent, sometime in 1730-40, as no record is found at Pomfret after about 1730.

One Stephen Paine married Jemima Morgan, and on the Norwich records I found only this: "Roger, ye son of Stephen Paine and his wife Jemima was born the 25th day of July, 1760". They were married in 1754. It is probable that the Stephen Paine who married Rebecca Bushnell is the one born to Benjamin and Mary Brewster Paine, June 26, 1735, for he would be just past 21, while the one who married in 1754 would be only 19, Would be very grateful for any aid on this problem, so that descendants could join Mayflower Descendants. Kingsley's Records at Lebanon—he was for many years the Town Clerk—says this Stephen born to Benj. is the one who married Rebecca Bushnell. Would like to know when Stephen died at Partridgefield, Mass., and his age at death; this would prove whose son he was, most likely. Shall appreciate any clues. A. R. H.

PAST AND PRESENT

Thomas Pigge of Dedham, Mass., died in 1660. In his will dated October 30, the name is written Pig, Pigg, Pigge and Pidge. "A rose by any other name," etcetera.

The last survivor of the Battle of Concord, April 19, 1775, was Amos Lincoln Baker, who died July 16, 1850, in Boston. At a Concord celebration the same year, he signed a statement that he participated in the battle seventy-five years before.

The first white child born in America was Virginia Dare, daughter of Annanias and Eleanor Dare. She was born August 18, 1597, in Roanoke, North Carolina. Her parents were of the expedition sent out by Sir Walter Raleigh in that year.

Love and wedlock knoweth neither age, condition, color, weather or previous condition of servitude. Hence, I am never surprised at what one may discover in the course of one's researches. In Baltimore, Maryland, on May 8, 1801, Mr. M. H. Duval of Prince George County, aged 17, was married to Mrs. Allen, aged 50, widow of the late Zachariah Allen of that place. The marriage notice concludes with these lines:

"A wise and happy change of life,
To get at once a mother and a wife."

And this from the mother of states: "Married, in New Kent County, Virginia, February 27, 1802, Mr. Michael Sherman, aged 97, to the amiable and accomplished Miss Eliza Poindexter, aged 14." Old enough to be her great, great grandfather. Where are May and December now?

Yet age is really of no account in the love-game. On January 23, 1764, Miss Mary Eldrington, "an old virgin," died in Elizabethtown, New Jersey, in the 109th year of her age. She was of an ancient family in Northumberland, England. The account further states: "Notwithstanding her great age, she was very desirous of getting a husband before she died, and when she had reached her 107th year, nothing could offend her so highly as to tell her she was too old to be married."

One of the early Otis emigrants was Robert, who came from Ireland in 1720, and settled at the mouth of the Connecticut river. The first arrival, John of Massachusetts, spelled his name Ottis, and on the original records of Hingham, the name is found as Otis, Otys, Ottis, Otes, Oates, Oattis and Oatis.

John Foster was a mathematician and printer in Dorchester, Mass. He died September 9, 1681, aged 33. On his tombstone is the inscription

"Skill was his Cash."

Henrico County, Virginia Wills

[Contributed to GENEALOGY]

(Martin Smith, Son of Betsy Burton and Obadiah Smith—Will dated 1818.)

I, Martin Smith, being of infirm body, sound mind and memory, do make and order this as my last will and testament, revoking all others heretofore made by me. First, my will and desire is that all my just debts be paid in order to enable my executors hereinafter named to accomplish so desirable an end do ento upon and sell all my estate, both real and personal, or of whatever kind may consist (not here mention) dowered at such times and upon such terms that they may think most advantageous to my estate.

Second, My will and desire is that my executors do convey to Jacob Smith, by deed the land whereon he lives to that part running from a corner pine on Robert Gordon's line along a line of marked trees to a corner of poplar and timber or old mill pond, branch thence to the poplar to William Young line, so as to include the little meadow.

Third, My will and desire is that my executors do convey by deed to (my brother-in-laws) John Hawkins, Lyddall Bacon Bowles and my brother Jacob Smith, one-fourth part to each of them, two acres of land in the City of Richmond, Virginia, which was purchased of Jesse Smith by myself, John Hawkins, Lyddall Bacon Bowles and Jacob Smith, the said deed having been made to me by the said Jesse Smith, so soon as each of them shall complete the third and last payment for the same.

Fourth, I give and bequeath to my sister, Nancy Smith, fifteen hundred dollars, to be paid to her by my executors as soon as the sale can be made of my estate by them to her and her heirs forever.

Fifth, I lend to my mother, Elizabeth Burton Smith, during her life time, my negro woman, Lenora and her child Moses, together with her future increase, and at her death give and bequeath them to my sister, Nancy Smith, to her and her heirs forever.

Sixth, My will and desire that my mother and Aunt Lucy Price (she was Lucy Burton) and my sister, Nancy Smith shall have the use of the plantation whereon they now live which is owned by myself and brother, Jacob Smith, also two small pieces of land I bought of Thomas Buller and Jones Tyler, so long as they live or marry, and at the death or marriage of all of them, I give and bequeath the same land to my brother Jacob Smith and brother-in-law Lyddal Bacon Bowles to them and their heirs forever.

Seventh, My will and desire is that the remaining part of my estate is to be divided in the following manner. One fifth part between all the children of my sister Mary Smith King, which she has or may have as well as those by her first husband, John Bacon Ryall, deceased, as those by her present husband, George King.

One fifth part between all the children of my sister Lucy Smith Hawkins (dead). One fifth part between all the children of my brother Jacob Smith which he has or may have.

One fifth part between all the children of my sister Elizabeth Smith Bowles, which she has or may have; the remaining one-fifth to my sister Nancy Smith.

Eighth, My will and desire is, if either of the children of my sister Mary King, or those left by my sister Lucy Hawkins, should claim any part of the land which their mother heired as one of the heirs of my father, Obadiah Smith, deceased, which I have purchased, that they shall not have any part of my estate before devised.

I give and bequeath to my brother, Jacob Smith, all the interest I have in the wagons, mules, which we have held in conjunction and release him from all accounts, whether by note or open account, upon his paying to my mother, Elizabeth

Smith, five hundred dollars annually, during her life, out of that part of my estate which I have given him.

Tenth, Lastly I appoint Lyddall Bacon Bowles and Jacob Smith and Benj. Sheppard, executors, in testimony whereof I have here unto set my hand and seal this fourth day of Aug. 1818.

MARTIN SMITH.

Sumner Family

[Contributed to GENEALOGY.]

It would appear that "W. W.," the writer of the note and query on the Sumner family in the January issue, was either misquoted or misinformed. Governor Increase Sumner, not having been born until 1746 could not well be the son of George (2) who died in 1715. As a matter of fact he was the grandson of George and son of Edward (3). As to the question whether William was the only son of Roger of Bicester, there is no other son mentioned in the will of Roger, who devotes considerable space to William and his upbringing and except for his wife he makes no provision for any other relatives except the children of his brother William. I do not think there has been any evidence produced to connect Thomas Sumner of Rowley in 1643 with this family but there were families of the name in County Essex and County Devon who from the similarity of names would seem to have been connected as has been pointed out by Mr. Henry Fitz Waters in his "Gleanings in England." Is it with intention that the correspondent alters the name of the second husband of Joane Franklin from Marcus, as he is usually known, to Morris?

Gedney-Nelson

[Contributed to Genealogy.]

John Gedney (1) born about 1611, Norwich, England. Came to Salem, Mass., 1637, with wife Sarah (born 1612) and some children. In 1661 he had wife Katharine. His children were Mary (married Nicholas Potter,) Lediah, Hannah, John, Bartholomew, Eleazar (2), Sarah.

Eleazar (2 above) bapt. Salem 15 -3-1642, married (1st) June 19, 1665, Elizabeth, daughter of John Turner. Married (2nd) 1678, Mary Pateshall. His children were Eleazar (3), Elizabeth, Ruth, William, Mary, Ebenezer, Edmund, Martha.

Eleazar (3 above) b. March 18, 1665-6, removed to Mamaroneck, N. Y., and married Anne, daughter of Capt. James (son of Adam) Mott and Mary Redmond (daughter of Ann Richbell). Prob. had following children: John, James, Ruth (4), Joseph, Eleazar and perhaps others.

Ruth (4 above) married Polycarpus Nelson, who, in his will of 1739, mentions children—"Mahur Shalal Hash Baz" (known as "Baz Nelson"), Thomas, Elijah, Shadrack, Sybil, Roxana, Glorianna, Esther, Ruth, Mary.

I would like to know dates of births and names of husbands and wives of the children of Polycarpus Nelson.

Scotch-Irish Records

[Contributed to Genealogy.]

In tracing my Scotch-Irish ancestry, prior to the coming to America, I made a discovery that should be brought to the notice of Historical Societies. Pennsylvania was the early home of many of those arriving from the North of Ireland. I find that those who can trace their genealogies beyond this country are singularly few. It was by much application that I was able to find the slightest clue to my foreign ancestry. Having found it I am unwilling that a discovery made should remain unpublished.

In Larne, County Antrim, Ireland, lives a Rev. J. Kennedy, who has charge of a church there dating back to about 1700, and probably much farther. In the possession of this Rev. Kennedy are two old registers of marriages, baptisms, etc., which concern the immigrants to America who came so numerously from 1730 to 1750. My understanding is that these registers are in bad order and have never had any publication. That the information they contain should be preserved, seems of that importance, that I think it a duty to direct the attention of a historical society, which has an interest in such matters, to the fact. This is especially true of Pennsylvania. The heart of the immigration of Scotch-Irish to Pennsylvania and Virginia lies in the vicinity of Larne.

Perhaps steps to obtain copies of these registers may result from this information. O. K. L.

PAST AND PRESENT

The earliest applications of the principles of genealogy were made by the law, so it is to that science that we are indebted for the meaning of most of the terms now in use. The law defines an ancestor as one from whom an heir inherits property or as one prior to another in the right to inherit property.

Such an ancestor may or may not be of the same line of descent. A son inheriting property is by law the heir of his ancestor and by descent the descendant of his ancestor. But if the position be reversed and the father inherit money from his son he is the heir of his ancestor according to the law, and by descent he is the ancestor of his descendant and the latter is an ancestor of his own ancestor.

In the days when property rights were vested solely in men, and when women had little share in the distribution of wealth, the law recognized only the male issue, and, therefore, interested itself only in the tracing of the male line of descent.

But the evolution of public opinion has modified this condition so that the rights of property now, especially in the United States, are practically the same for men and women. Therefore, modern genealogy recognizes the importance of the female line of descent, and it has been scientifically established that the hereditary influence of the female ancestors upon posterity is fully equal to that of the male.

An English sculptor was ordered to engrave on a tombstone the following words: "She was a crown to her husband." The stone, being small, he engraved upon it: "She was 5s to her husband."

Up to the time of the Revolution all the early settlers of Augusta Co., Va., were of the Scotch-Irish race. After that period the German element drifted southward from Pennsylvania.

It is not in country graveyards only that the English of the epitaphs is open to criticism. In the Old Granary burying ground in Boston, there is a stone with the following inscription:

Here lies interr'd the body of Capt. Nicholas Gardner, who was wounded by the enemy of which he died June 13, 1782, aged 33 years.

The first clergyman to preach in Tennessee was the Rev. Charles Cummings, who, in 1776, accompanied the troops of Colonel Christian against the Cherokees.

John McDowell, who was killed by Indians near the forks of the James River, Va., in 1742, had two sons, Samuel and James, and a daughter Martha, who married Col. George Moffett. W. M. C.

Montgomery of North Carolina

[Contributed to Genealogy.]

On November 9, 1773, John Montgomery, late of the Provence of Pennsyvania, received from William Harris, and Martha, his wife, of the Parish of St. Pauls, in the Provence of Georgia, three certain parcels of land lying in Mecklenburg County, North Carolina, containing in all 630 acres, and on the waters of McRees Creek.

His will, dated September 13, 1795 (probated October Term 1795), mentions his wife (name not given), four (4) sons—Samuel, James, Robert and John; and four (4) daughters—Elizabeth Johnson, Mary Irwin, Isabel and Ruth; Executors—Thomas Irwin and Nehemiah Harrison.

Before January, 1800, Samuel Montgomery moved to Knox Co., Tenn.

In a deed dated June 25, 1795, Robert Montgomery is mentioned as a planter.

On September 1, 1771, John Montgomery of Mecklenburg Co., North Carolina bought from Joseph Kenedy and Easter Kenedy, 200 acres of land in Mecklenburg Co., N. C., lying on both sides of East Branch of Six Mile Creek. Before 1809, John moved to Blount County, Tenn. J. M. 2nd.

PAST AND PRESENT

Michael Baird, who lived near Little York, Penn., was a miser. His father left him a farm of five hundred acres in the vicinity of York, with some farming and household articles. Michael kept tavern a number of years, married, and raised four children. He accumulated an immense estate, which he reserved so tenaciously that he never afforded a dollar for the education of his children. He never was known to lay out one dollar in cash for any article he might be in need of. He would either do without it, or find some person who would barter with him for something which he could not conveniently sell for money. In this way he amassed an estate worth $400,000.

The man who wrote "Old Folks at Home," was buried in Allegheny, Penn., in the family burial-ground, Allegheny Cemetery, a lot in which also repose the remains of his father, mother, three brothers and two sisters. The grave of the composer (as well as each of the others) is marked by a handsome marble tombstone. On his are inscribed these words:—

STEPHEN C. FOSTER,
of Pittsburgh,
Born July 4, 1826.
Died in New York,
January 13, 1864.

The lot is a large one, well fenced by a handsome stone curb, and is carefully tended and kept in order by the affectionate hands of surviving kindred.

One cannot know too much about himself, and in acquiring a knowledge of his ancestors he is learning the most important facts about his own personality. This has been demonstrated so many times that it is needless to enter into extended argument to prove the assertion.

An Irishman writing a sketch of his life, says he ran away from his father because he discovered he was only his uncle.

The earliest known Wilson in Pennsylvania was William Wilson and his wife, Barbara McKane, who were married in Dublin, Ireland. They came to America about 1720, and settled at the forks of the Brandywine, in Chester Co., Penn.

A generation is the interval of time that elapses between the birth of a father and the birth of his son, and was generally used in computing considerable periods of time, both in sacred and profane history. The interval of a generation is consequently of uncertain length, depends on the standard of human life, and whether the generations are reckoned by eldest, middle or youngest sons. Thirty-three years have usually been allowed as the mean length of a generation, or three generations for every hundred years. In compiling pedigrees, great attention is necessary to the number of generations in any given period, as they form a guide to the probability of persons having sprung from any particular individual.

Among our industrious and frugal forefathers, it was a maxim that a young woman should never be married until she had spun herself a set of body, bed, or table linen. From this custom all unmarried women were termed spinsters, an appellation they still retain in all law proceedings.

The first Floyds in America were two brothers, who came from Wales to Accomac Co., Va. William Floyd, a son of one of these brothers, married Abiliah Davis of Amherst Co., who was of Indian descent.

A farmer walked into the office of the Probate Court and asked "are you the judge of Reprobates?" "I am the judge of Probate." "Well, that's it, I expect, you see my father died detested, and he left several little infidels, and I want to be their executioner!" W. M. C.

Gwatkin Family of Virginia

[Contributed to Genealogy.]

Colonel Charles Gwatkin, of Bedford County, Virginia, was a native of Scotland, and emigrated to America. During his lifetime he filled several important civil offices in Bedford County as well as several military positions in the County. He married Miss Mary Callaway, daughter of Mr. Richard Callaway of said County, on or about the 6th of November, 1767.

The said Richard Callaway—son of Colonel William Callaway—born about 1719, made several visits to Kentucky and finally removed and settled there with Daniel Boone in 1775. He had been a prominent man in Bedford County, a Justice of the Peace and an Officer in the Colonial Army from the County in 1758. After settling in Kentucky his two daughters, Elizabeth and Frances, with Jemima Boone, were captured by the Indians July 14, 1776, and were re-taken the next day by Boone. This incident was made use of by Cooper in his novel, the "Last of the Mohicans." Richard Callaway helped to organize the government of Transylvania at Boonesborough; he was subsequently killed by the Indians near Boonesborough, March 8, 1780.

Colonel Charles Gwatkin died in 1806, leaving, surviving him, his wife and children as follows:

Wife—Mary Gwatkin, died in 1829. Children—

Margaret Gwatkin, married Waddy Cobbs, May 11, 1788, by Revd. Charles Clay.

Frances Gwatkin, married Simon M. Noell, November 19, 1801, by Revd. Jeremiah Hatcher.

Catharine Gwatkin, married Thomas G. Logwood, Jr., February 16, 1802, by Revd. Jeremiah Hatcher.

James Gwatkin, married first, Mary Thorp, about November 6, 1802; second, Permelia Otey, daughter of John Hopkins and Elizabeth Buford Otey.

Lucinda Gwatkin, married James Campbell, February 10, 1808, by Revd. Joseph Purnell.

Mary C. Gwatkin, married Micajah Davis, Jr., about October 6, 1810. This was Mr. Davis' first marriage; he subsequently married Martha Cobbs July 8, 1831, by Revd. N. H. Cobbs.

Elizabeth Gwatkin, married Jeffrey Cobbs, on or about September 13, 1811.

Nancy H. Gwatkin, married Charles L. Mitchell on or about February 3, 1812.

Edward Gwatkin, married Mary A. J. Otey, daughter of Maj. Isaac and Elizabeth Mathews Otey, on or about March 22, 1813.

Charles Gwatkin, married Catharine Clayton, daughter of John Willis Clayton. R. B.

The Youngs Family

[Contributed to GENEALOGY]

Elizabeth Youngs, daughter of Samuel and Rebecca (Brown) Youngs, born at Stamford, Conn., April 19, 1749, and died at Darien, Conn., March 6, 1833. She was a descendant of the Rev. Samuel Youngs who settled in Long Island in 1620, and married another party of the same name (Youngs). It appears that the early church records, covering this marriage, were destroyed by fire, and while there has never been any question regarding the marriage, members of the Youngs' family are unable to place her husband. She married this——Youngs about 1767 and had issue Phebe Youngs, born about 1768. Want the full name of the Youngs she married, date of marriage and full date of the birth of the issue the said Phebe Youngs. C. A. B.

PAST AND PRESENT

Francis Gallons recommends the establishment of a new genealogy, in the collection of statistics of large and thriving families, in order to show respect to the parents of noteworthy children which such contribution of valuable assets to the national wealth richly deserves. This is a phase of genealogy which is beginning to command much attention, and the pedigree which can show a large descent of reputable middle class citizens is beginning to be valued quite as much as the one going back by a single line to titled nobility or royalty.

In most of the prominent modern societies based upon genealogical descent, the female line has equal standing with the male, despite the fact that it does not perpetuate the family name.

A New Jersey man says he knew Shakespeare when he lived in Pennsylvania, that his name was not Shakespeare but William Spear, and that after he moved to Michigan he caught the fever and ague, and was afterward nicknamed Shake-spear.

Somewhere in his "History" in Volume 5, I think, Bancroft says: "We will find the first voice publicly raised in America to dissolve all connection with Great Britain came, not from the Puritans of New England, or the Dutch of New York, or the planters of Virginia, but from the Scotch-Irish Presbyterians."

Upon the tomb of one Isaac Greentree, in Harrow, England, church-yard, is inscribed the following:

There is a time when these green trees shall fall,
And Isaac Greentree rise above them all.

The following is a copy of an epitaph in the church-yard at North Shields, England, which has been the subject of much laughter to many persons on account of its absurdity:

In memory of James Bell, of North Shields, who died 16th January, 1763, aged 42 years. Margaret, widow of the above said James Bell, died December 30, aged 49 years. She was wife after to Wm. Fenwick, of North Shields.

An old genealogist said the other day: "I have spent hours of toil looking for Dorothy Dudley's family name. I never shall find it, but I believe it will be found, and, in all probability, by some youngster who will stumble accidentally upon the very thing we old folks have been looking for for more than half a century."

In the records of the St. Paul Church in Philadelphia is the following unique and rather unsatisfactory marriage entry: October 21, 1792. "A poor, old man, and Mrs. Anderson (both pretty old, but no impediment)." W. M. C.

(25) John McKenna, died January 16, 1897, aged 76 years. Elizabeth Wood, his wife, born January 18, 1820, died April 22, 1903.

It is a scientific fact that the parent has only one-fourth average influence upon his child, and the grandparent only one-sixteenth. The man whose ancestor was a signer of the Declaration of Indepence inherits only 1-256th of his patriotism. A Mayflower descendant has only 1-63536th part of Plymouth Rock blood.

The ancestral influences for evil are as great as those for good, and must be taken into account in the administration of perfect justice. It is claimed that when genealogical records are complete and give the weaknesses as well as the virtues of ancestors the moral as well as the physical condition of the nation will be greatly improved.

Ancestor worship is practiced in China to-day after the same methods which have prevailed for centuries. In every house an altar is erected sacred to the memory of the founders of the family, upon which incense is burned and before which prayers are offered. The anniversary of the death of an ancestor is kept as a sacred memorial day. The other altars in the house may be neglected, but never this one.

PAST AND PRESENT

A rich old maid died at Newton, New Hampshire, who left property to the value of nearly $40,000. She was all her lifetime getting ready to be married, and had stored up 182 sheets, 63 coverlets, 50 blankets, 27 beds, with 1120 pounds of feathers, 54 pillows, 43 handkerchiefs, while the whole amount of her wearing apparel did not exceed $10 in value.

Near Staunton, Va., in July, 1763, the Indians killed John Trimble and Alexander Crawford and his wife, according to the record in an old family Bible.

Every modern genealogist endeavors if possible to give the vital statistics—that is, the dates of the birth, marriage, and death of each person mentioned.

An Irishman being asked which was the oldest, he or his brother, replied: "I am eldest, but if my brother lives three years longer we shall be both of an age."

At Athens, Penn., Mr. James Bee married Miss Martha Ann Flower:

Well has this little busy Bee
Improved life's shining hour,
He gathers honey all the day
From one sweet chosen flower;
And from his hive, if heaven please,
He'll raise a little swarm of Bees.

An Irishman bought a family Bible, and taking it home, made his first entry in it thus:

"Patrick O'Donoghue—born September 20, 1869, aged twenty-three years."

It is estimated that this year there will be at least four times as many family records published as ten years ago. Each volume published not only gives the pedigree of the family interested directly, but also supplies many connecting threads helpful in the weaving of other family records.

The Japanese have methods of ancestor worship similar to those in use in China. They visit the graves of their ancestors regularly, decorating them with flowers and making devout prayers.

While genealogy should not encourage snobbery, and will not with any broad-minded persons, genealogists admit that there is a decided disposition on the part of most Americans to trace their ancestry back to aristocracy, despite their much vaunted democracy.

Many of the early settlers who were registered on the early colonial records as weavers, blacksmiths, tailors, and similar trades in reality were of much higher descent than some of those who simply wrote the word "gentleman" after their names. The old artisans' guilds of Europe and England were of anything but plebeian origin and had the closest relations with the highest orders of chivalry. W. M. C.

Vital Records

Vital records of the towns and cities of the colonial and early state periods are now collected and printed in Massachusetts and Maine. Transcribe those of your town—marriages, births and deaths—and send to us to be similarly preserved in the columns of Genealogy and in files of our Manuscript Library of American History and Genealogy. We particularly desire Southern and Western records.

PAST AND PRESENT

The question is frequently asked, "What entitles an American family to the use of arms?" The answer is that heraldry is international; so that an American who can prove that his family bore arms in a European country can secure the permission to use that design quite as readily as a Frenchman, or the native of any country where there is an established heraldry could secure the privilege of using the arms belonging to another nation—that is, if his descent warrants it and he is willing to pay the fee. Most of the European countries are satisfied with the heraldry of their own nation, however, and there are now more applications for the revival of English coats-of-arms received from Americans than from all the rest of the world put together.

In the inventory of the estate of George Hays, who died in Virginia in 1747, his entire property consisted of 12 pewter spoons, valued at 25 cents.

Do you recall the nursery rhyme of "Mother Goose"? Then proceed to read: Elizabeth Foster
Known in the Literature of the Nursery as "Mother Goose,"
Was born in Charlestown, Mass., 1665;
Married Isaac Goose, of Boston, 1693;
Became a member of Old South Church, 1698;
Was left a widow in 1716.
The first edition of her "Melodies" was Published in 1719.
She died 1757,
Æ 92 years.

Charleston is often spoken of as the most aristocratic city in this country; and one reason is that the government of the city always has been largely in the hands of the old aristocratic families who founded the town.

About the year 1750, there was a house of worship near Norristown, Penn., called "Providence," and from this locality many families emigrated to Virginia, and built a meeting house which they called "New Providence." This was located in what is now Rockbridge Co., Va.

In some cases records may have two dates, which seemingly contradict each other. Whenever this occurs, both dates should be given. The student should keep in mind the fact that in early colonial times the year began on the 25th of March, instead of the 1st of January.

The distinguished General Logan of Kentucky was a son of David, and was baptized May 3, 1743, by Rev. John Craig of Augusta Co., Va.

At a wedding the other day, one of the guests, who sometimes was a little absentminded, observed, gravely: "I have often remarked that there have been more women than men married this year." W. M. C.

Queries

[Contributed to GENEALOGY.]

(1) Capt. James Knox, of Iredell Co., N. C. (a Revolutionary soldier), married whom? Did he marry Anne, dau. of William Montgomery, of Ky. (son of whom?). This Anne married a James Knox.

(2) Sir Henry Yelverton, Knt. Speaker of the House of Commons in the time of Elizabeth and James. First elected speaker about 1588. Born 1564. Died 1630. His father died when he was young, and he had a younger brother. He married (whom?) and "had many children," according to a speech in the House. (See Hume Vol. IV, Hist. Eng.) Elusha Yelverton married John Crow, of Yarmouth, Mass., and had sons, Yelverton and John. Was she one of these "many children"? Her ancestry desired. A Sir William Yelverton, Knt., was Lord Chief Justice of Eng. in the time of King Edward IV, whose dau., Margaret, married a Tyndale, and was an ancestor of Margaret Tyndale, third wife of Gov. John Winthrop, of Mass. Did Sir Henry descend from Sir William Yelverton? (Burke's Commoners might give data on this.)

(3) Capt. James Pemberton, of Boston, married Sarah, dau. of Capt. Thomas Marshall and (—— ——?) They had dau., Alice Pemberton^2. Whom did she marry? James and Alice (Pemberton) Williams, of London, were parents of Rev. Roger Williams. Was she related to Capt. James Pemberton? His ancestry desired. Roger and Catherine (—— ——) Pemberton of Gt. St. Albans, Hertfordshire, were the parents of Alice (Pemberton) Williams.

(4) Rev. Zachariah Symnes and Sarah ——, had dau., Ruth^2, b. Oct. 1635. Whom did she marry?

PAST AND PRESENT

Biography and genealogy contain the key to the intimate history of a whole people.

Bishop Meade, of Virginia, occasionally allowed himself to say a witty thing, though habitually very grave. He was once lamenting the neglect of education in the State, and remarked, with a significant expression: "Our girls are poorly educated, but our boys will never find it out."

A birth is found recorded in an old family Bible at West Haven, Conn., as follows: "Elizabeth Jones, born on the 20th of November, 1786, according to the best of her recollection."

Virginia having joined the Prohibition column can now look back to 1738, with much regret, for in that year "it was ordered that ordinary keepers sell their brandy at the rate of six shillings per gallon."

The valley of the Shenandoah was first explored by John Marlin, a peddler, and John Salling, a weaver, who started forth from Winchester, Va., in 1738.

Errors in dates are easy to make and difficult to correct. An applicant for membership to the D. A. R. had her application refused recently because in giving the date of the birth of her ancestor she made him forty-nine years old at the beginning of the Revolutionary war, while the records of his case found in the United States Pension Office at Washington made him only nineteen, so that the would-be D. A. R. had evidently been a descendant of some other man of the same name, born thirty years before the soldier.

One Peter Scholl was living in Kentucky in 1776, and was intimately associated with Daniel Boone. He has been spoken of as Boone's nephew-in-law.

PAST AND PRESENT

The oldest and most exclusive organization in the United States which is based upon ancestry is the Society of the Cincinnati, founded in May, 1783, just before the disbandment of the Revolutionary army.

The first regiment raised in New York City for the Revolutionary war was composed of Hebrews. Consequently the descendants of these soldiers were among the earliest members of the newly developed patriotic societies based upon descent. Aside from this, the Jews have a genealogy of their own. Many orthodox members of the faith claim to trace their pedigrees all the way back to Abraham, but these records are disputed—especially by the members of the Reformed Jewish organizations. It is doubtful if positive proofs of any particular families go back beyond the destruction of the temple of Herod I.

An act of the Virginia Assembly, passed in 1705, in accordance with the old English law, prescribed the ducking stool as the punishment for women convicted as "Common Scolds."

At a christening, while a minister was making the certificate, he forgot the date, and happened to say:

"Let me see, this is the 30th."

"The thirtieth!" exclaimed the indignant mother; "indeed, it is only the eleventh!" W. M. C.

Fertig Family Notes

[Contributed to Genealogy.]

Peter Fertig, of Chester county, Pa., born 1765, died in 1842, aged 75. He was probably a son of John.

Adam Fertig, who lived in New Hanover, Pa., 1760-1790, was probably a son of Michael. His wife's name was Elizabeth ——. They had a child baptized in the Lutheran Church at New Hanover, Pa., as follows:

(1) Anna Barbara, b. Aug. 6, 1770, bapt. Oct. 7, 1770.

John Adam Fertig, also of New Hanover, probably son of Michael, and brother of John, above, and his wife, Elizabeth ——, had children as follows:

(1) Ann Margareth, b. Nov. 8, 1764, bapt. March 19, 1765.

(2) Catherine, b. April 5, 1768, bapt. June 19, 1768.

(3) Elizabeth, b. July 21, 1763, bapt. Aug. 14, 1763.

There was also a Johanes and Elizabeth Fertig in New Hanover, who had a son, John Peter, b. Sept. 2, 1766, bapt. Oct. 20, 1766, but this may be the same John Adam, as above.

Jacob Fertig, of Chester county, Pa., was born in 1778, and died in 1823, aged 45 years.

Abraham Fertig, of Vincent township, Chester county, Pa., was a witness on Jan. 1, 1805, to an agreement between Peter Brownback and Frederick Smith.

Burton Family of Virginia

[Contributed to GENEALOGY.]

THE WILL OF MARTIN BURTON

In the name of God, amen: I, Martin Burton, of the parish and county of Henrico, state of Virginia, being weak of body, but of sound sense and memory, do make and ordain this to be my last will and testament in manner and form following, to wit:

Imprimus, I give and bequeath unto my son, William Burton, the land and plantation I purchased of William Smith, containing two hundred and fifty acres, be the same more or less. beginning at a Birch in horse swamp in Carters' line near the old plumb tree, thence running a straight line to a Sycamore tree in the branch near Hicks Spring, thence up the branch and line to the corner of the old field to William Jones' line, this being the dividing line between him and the plantation whereon I now live, to him and his heirs forever. I also give and bequeath to my son, William, six negroes, viz.: Susan, Agg, Isaac, Bobb, Jacob and Pegg, to him and his heirs forever.

Item: I give and bequeath to my son, John Burton, the tract of land whereon he now lives, it being part of the land I purchased of Miller and part of the land I purchased of Hughes, and bounded as follows: Beginning in Smith line, thence down Poplar branch, to where it empties into Meridith's branch, thence across Meridith's branch to Miller's Spring branch, thence up the Spring branch to three maples near the Spring, thence a straight line to a small Pine in Du Valk line near the corner, this being the dividing line between him and my son, Daniel Burton, containing four hundred and fifty acres, be the same more or less. I also give unto my said son, John Burton, six negroes, viz.: Sam, Judith, Sall, Jack, Aaron and Cate, to him and his heirs forever.

Item: I give and bequeath unto my son, Daniel Burton, the remainder of the before mentioned tract of land I purchased of Hughes and Miller to him and his heirs forever. I also give unto my said son, Daniel Burton, six negroes, viz.: Amy, Jenny, Davy, Cate, George and Fannie, to him and his heirs forever.

Item: I give and bequeath unto my son, Thomas Burton, the tract of land I purchased of John and William S. Smith (probably the S. is for Sterling) and known by the Meadow Plantation, to him and his heirs forever. I also give and bequeath unto my aforesaid son the plantation whereon I now live, reserving to my beloved wife the free use of the same during her widowhood and also my daughter, Lucy Burton, the privilege of living in the dwelling house during her single life. I also give and bequeath unto my said Thomas, six negroes, viz.: Daniel, Nancy, Ursley, Stephen, China and little Daniel, reserving to my beloved wife the use of the negro little Daniel during her widowhood. I also give and bequeath to my said son one horse and saddle, one bed and furniture and ten pounds to be raised out of my estate as hereafter directed to him and his heirs forever.

Item: I give and bequeath unto my daughter, Elizabeth Smith, six negroes, viz.: Lucy, Dorcus, Phill, Harry, Ned and Tilla, and their increase. I also give unto my daughter, Elizabeth Smith, one negro, by the name of Charles, reserving unto my beloved wife the use of the aforesaid negro, Charles, during her natural life to her and her heirs forever.

Item: I give and bequeath unto my daughter Lucy Burton, seven negroes, viz: Jesse, Anicka, Roger, Rachel, Clair, Maria and Luck, reserving unto my beloved wife the use of the aforesaid negro, Luck, during her natural life. Also, I give and bequeath unto my aforesaid daughter, Lucy, one horse and saddle, one bed and furniture and ten pounds, to be raised out of my estate as hereafter directed, to her and her heirs forever.

I lend unto my beloved wife six negroes, viz.: Ben, Dick, Luck, Charles, Beck and little Daniel, during her natural life, and at her death to dispose of the aforesaid negro girl, Beck, in any manner she may think proper to some of my children, or their heirs. I also lend unto my beloved wife one-third part of my personal estate during her natural life and at her death to be, with the aforesaid negroes, lent to my said wife not before divided, equally among my children or their heirs.

My will further is that the privilege of my ten lots of land in James river be equally divided among all my children, or their heirs. My will and desire further is that all the rest of my estate not before divided be sold, and after paying all my just debts and legisees herein mentioned, the money from such sale be equally divided among all my children, their heirs.

And, lastly, my will is that my estate shall not be appraised nor my executors give security for their executorship, and I appoint my sons, William Burton, John Burton, Daniel Burton and Thomas Burton, executors of this, my last will and testament, hereby revoking all other wills by me heretofore made, in witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my seal this first day of January, 1791.

MARTIN BURTON.

Davis-Devereux

[Contributed to Genealogy.]

William Davis, fisherman, of Marblehead, Mass., was drowned in September, 1725. He married, Feb. 8, 1713, at Marblehead, Emma Devereux[3], daughter of Robert and Hannah (Blaney). Robert Devereux' will was proved Dec. 22, 1740, and he was a son of John and Anne Devereux, of Marblehead. John Devereux died May, 1695, aged 81. Anne died April 26, 1708, aged 88. Hannah (Blaney[2]) was born Nov. 11, 1667, to John and Hannah (King[2]), who were married July 11, 1660. John Blaney died 1701, at Lynn. Was he related to Edward Blaney, of New Jersey, an older emigrant? William and Emma (Devereux) Davis had Joseph and Hannah. She was born Feb. 28, 1718, and married in March, 1737, to Samuel Chapman. William Davis' ancestry desired.

Hudson-Ballard

[Contributed to GENEALOGY]

Rebecca Hudson, married Dec. 16, 1662, at Lynn, Nathaniel Ballard[2] (William[1]). She died at Lynn, May 16, 1724. Her husband died Jan. 12, 1721, at Lynn. It is claimed by their descendants that this family came from Bristol in Gloucestershire and that they were related to the celebrated explorer, Henry Hudson. Was Rebecca a daughter of Thomas Hudson, of Lynn, as has been surmised? Was Thomas a son of Daniel Hudson, of Watertown? Daniel died 1697, and had a son, Thomas. Gov. John Leverett, of Mass., married Hannah, daughter of Ralph Hudson, of Boston. She died leaving a daughter, Rebecca Leverett, of about the same age as Rebecca Hudson. What relation were they? W. W.

The January issue of GENEALOGY will contain an account of the Woodrow family.

The John Brainerd Family

[Contributed to Genealogy]

John Brainerd, who succeeded his brother David, as missionary among the Indians of New Jersey, was born at Haddam, Conn., February 28, 1720. He was fitted for college probably by his brother Nehemiah. This brother was pastor of the Eastbury (Conn.) Church from April, 1740, until his death, November 9, 1742. John was graduated at Yale in 1746.

He went to Bethel, near Cranberry, in April, 1747, and began assisting David among the Indians. David took a journey to New England during the summer, hoping to recover his health, but died October 9th, at Northampton. John was commissioned in his brother's place by the Society for the Promotion of Christian Knowledge. He was ordained in February, 1748. The Indian children were provided with a school and were taught spinning, business and some of the trades.

The Indians, having been dispossessed of their land, Brainerd, in May, 1755, was released by the society. He returned to New England, but soon was invited to preach at Newark. He accepted, and moved there with his family, remaining about one year.

Brainerd, in June, 1756, at the request of the society, again began work among the Indians, removing to New Brunswick. He was again released in September, 1757, and the same month again was called to Newark and settled there. In March, 1759, at the request of the society, to which was added the appeal of Governor Francis Bernard, he once more considered going to the Indians, finally leaving his comfortable charge at Newark, in May, 1759.

He labored among the Indians at Brotherton, Burlington County, and also did pioneer work among the white settlements. He dwelt for a time at Mt. Holly, where his meeting-house was burned by the British. He was called, in 1777, to Deerfield, Cumberland County, where he preached until his death, March 18, 1781.

Brainerd's first wife, Experience Lyon, died September 17, 1757, leaving three little children. His second wife, Experience Price, died August 28, 1793; she had no children. Two of Brainerd's children, Sophie and David, died at Newark, during September, 1758. The surviving daughter married Major John Ross, of Revolutionary fame.

Brainerd is buried beneath the floor of the Deerfield church.

Logans in the Revolution

[Contributed to Genealogy]

Samuel Logan, b. 1759, d. 1845, was placed on the pension roll of Pennsylvania in 1832, for 11 months for actual service as a private in the continental army. He was born in Ireland and died in Washington Co., Penn. He was at the battles of Brandywine and Germantown.

Benjamin Logan, b. 1743, in Augusta Co., Va., d. 1802, in Shelby Co., Ky., commanded many expeditions against the Indians in the Northwest.

William Logan, b. 1756, in Pennsylvania, enlisted in 1776, in Capt. Peter Grubb's Co., Col. Samuel Miles' Rifle Regiment. In 1781, he received deprecation pay for his services.

Hugh Logan, b. Augusta Co., Va., 1745, d. Lincoln Co., Ky., 1816, was a soldier in 1779, in Gen. Geo. Roger Clark's Illinois regiment of Virginia troops.

Newly discovered Georgia marriage records will appear in our next issue.
